NTL OPENED SESSIONS FOR TENTH YEAR IN BETHEL SUNDAY

This year marks the tenth session of the National Training Laboratory in Group Development, held each year at Gould Academy, Bethel. To accommodate the increasingly large number of persons who apply each year for admission to this pioneer laboratory in human relations and leadership training, as in 1955, two sessions will be held: the one now in progress began on Sunday, June 17, and will close officially at noon on Friday, July 6. The second session will start on July 22, and end on Friday, Aug. 11.

The delegate body comes from such fields as religion, public health, education, labor, welfare, industry, government, and the armed forces, and includes representatives from such far-away places as Australia, Bolivia, Brazil, Egypt, France, Hawaii, Israel, Japan, the Philippines, Saudi Arabia, and Thailand, plus the usual large delegation from Canada, Puerto Rico, and the United States.

For the third successive year, a special intensive program has been developed to fit in with the regular training program for persons currently engaged in training work who have had previous laboratory experience either at one of the NTL Laboratory Sessions at Bethel or at one of the regional laboratories. In Session I, the program itself will extend over four weeks and will provide opportunity for a potential trainee to participate in a special, analytical way in the regular "T" (Training) Groups of the Laboratory, to participate in special clinics evolving training theory and training methods, and to practice special specific skills of training. In this way, this training program for potential trainees will take them through various experiences with training. In Session II, the program will be the same as the first three weeks of Session I, and will run concurrently with the regular three-week Laboratory program, a maximum of fifteen persons for each session has been accepted for participation in this special program.

As the result of NTLGD's constantly-changing approach to the problems of intergroup and intragroup action, each year the training design to find new and better ways of effective action in a democratic society calls for a staff whose duties, as individuals, cover a multiplicity of diverse activities. Among the more than twenty-five staff members for the 1956 Summer Sessions who have participated in

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

I wish at this time to thank the Council and Town for again making it possible for me to attend the New England Conference of Managers. This is the annual Institute held at the U. of M. for managers from all over the New England States, June 18, 19, 20.

As in the past, three sessions a day are held starting at 9 a. m. with the final session breaking up at about 2 p. m. A good many interesting subjects are considered and it is a poor scholar indeed who fails to get considerable benefit from these meetings. After hearing some of the problems some of the managers are facing I realize again that I am very fortunate in being in Bethel and dealing with Bethel people.

You may be interested that we have on hand quite a part of the material needed for the construction of the building for the storage of records. We hope to start construction before too long.

Thanks,
O. T. Rozelle

IMPERFECT WIFE

By Anna Yarbrough

TESS ATLAND's slender fingers rolled sugar cookies to a water-thinness, then she laid the yellow moons on a cookie sheet. She closed the cabinet door, leaned against the oven door, worried: Why am I looking Jim's way? Every member of our crowd talks about how scrumptiously clean my home is, and my well planned meals. They call me the perfect wife.

The front door bell began to jangle. In the living room, she fell flat on the floor.

Tess sat up, flexed her fingers and toes, then stood up by slow stages, feeling for broken bones. She glared at the culprit, lying on the floor. One of Jimmie's skates.

The bell jangled again. It was a half grown boy with a package. He peered at her through thick glasses and inquired, "Gosh, live here?"

"Next door, down," Tess nodded her head in the direction.

Tess sniffed. The cookies! The cookies were brown to a dark brown with crinkled edges of black. The spotless kitchen smelled bitter-sweet, and blue smoke was along the ceiling.

Anger buzzed in Tess, and settled on Jimmie. He left his skate down, and she fell on it.

She would punish Jimmie for being careless. She would call the Community Center and donate these skates.

Tess had almost backed out by the time the truck came to pick up the skates, but she handed them over.

She was peeling potatoes for dinner when she heard Jimmie come in. Little Harold Brown was with him.

Jimmie was saying, "Sure, Harold, I'll let you skate on my new skates. I'll get them. They're in my room."

Then Harold's voice, "Gosh, Jimmie, that's great."

N. H., on Sunday visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dock attended the second annual Farmers' Opportunity Hereford Auction held at Vassalboro on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lurvey and family of Portland called at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Ward on Sunday.

Martha and David Keniston spent the week end with the Richard Davises while their parents were away.

Stephen Dock and Donna Rice attended the G.I. Club picnic at Bear Pond Park Tuesday.

Frank took his toll in gardens in this area Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis and Mrs. Alma LaFayette were in Randolph.

Tess listened to their frantic search.

Jimmie's voice full of disappointment, "I know I put them on this bottom shelf."

Then Harold's voice, "Maybe your mother gave them away. My mother does sometimes when my toys are old."

Then Jimmie close to tears, "Oh, no, my mother would never do that. These are new skates. I like them best of anything."

The potato Tess was peeling fell from her fingers. She laid the paring knife down and wiped her hands on a towel, then she glanced at the small electric clock over the stove, five-thirty.

She would have time. She eased the kitchen door open, ran around the side of the house, and backed the car out the drive.

Tears made the street swim. She lost minutes and more minutes trying to find a place to park.

When she dashed into Gownner's Hardware store, and had to wait for a clerk more precious minutes.

She was late, after six o'clock, when she started to the plant to pick up Jim. Lots of the wives were late but never her.

When she reached the plant gate, tall, blond Jim came toward her, frowning, "For Heaven's sake, why were you late?"

She burst into tears.

She babbled about falling over the skate, burning the cookies, supper not finished, but her hurrying into the hardware store to buy more skates for little Jimmie.

Then Jim laughed. He said, "Did you actually go into a store with your apron still on?"

Jim's arms went around her, and his voice was gentle, "Honey, I thought you didn't love me or little Jimmie any more. All you did was cook and clean. I thought all you cared for was to have the bunch praise you for being a perfect wife."

Do You Gamble With Fire?

If your answer to the question is a quick NO, think again! You may be gambling with fire every day.

Do you think that by obeying a few rules you are protecting your home and family from the danger of fire? If you do, you're a real gambler, all right!

The only real way to prevent fire is to become aware of the causes of fire. Make yourself fire conscious! The man who is careful not to smoke in bed can lose his family, his home and his own life as well, simply because the curtains in the kitchen were hung too close to the stove.

Few fires start by chance. Most fires are caused by ignorance or carelessness. A fire-informed family is familiar with fire—its uses and benefits as well as its dangers. Parents should make sure their children's fire education is not left to chance.

Some good rules to keep in mind are. Don't smoke in bed—Use only non-inflammable cleaning fluids—Don't use frayed electric cords—Keep matches away from young children—Clean out junk from attic and basement—Make sure your electric wiring is not overloaded—Don't use ordinary extension cords on heaters or irons—Be careful with lighted cigarettes—Make sure you know how to operate your oil stove—Watch out for sparking chimneys! Most of all,

DON'T GIVE FIRE A PLACE TO START!

KIDS! JOIN SPARKY'S FIRE DEPARTMENT NOW!

You can become an official member of Sparky's great fire department and join thousands of other children all over the country who are learning how to prevent fires in their homes. Send 25¢ to any fire department in Maine and I will send you a handsome Sparky's badge, a colorful membership card and an official Inspector's manual which will help you prevent fires in your home. My fire department is a non-profit project of the National Fire Protection Association. Send your request to:
